Thanksgiving: American Dream or Dream of the Earth?

Come share an evening with
Earth and The American Dream
Film showing at Genesis Farm
Tuesday, November 25, 2014, 7 pm

This Tuesday at 7 pm we will host the documentary film "Earth and the American Dream" in the Genesis Farm library.

As we prepare for the national holiday of Thanksgiving, we extend an invitation to reflect on some of the ways in which our shared American Dream has abused the very land that yielded material abundance and supported our visions of prosperity and growth.

This documentary by Academy Award winning director Bill Couturie is a powerful self-examination of the European presence on the North American continent. It is a disquieting story of the American Dream and the impact of that dream on the land, its animals, and its original peoples.

This 77-minute film, told from the North American continent's point of view, contains some perturbing imagery and is not recommended for children. Please RSVP if you plan to attend. Seating is limited. Discussion to follow.
